'Right to Work' Referendum Contrary to ASMSU By-Laws

Central Board decided yesterday that it was contrary to the ASMSU by-laws for students to circulate petitions for the 'Right to Work' referendum.

Division 6, Article 2 of the by-laws says that organizations seeking student body support must have Central Board approval to do so. The board passed a resolution which states:

"Soliciting of the student body by campus or downtown organizations shall be subject to Central Board approval."

Young Democrats

Werner, president of the Young Democrats, rejected the resolution. He said students were hired at 50¢ a signature to circulate the petitions.

Central Board felt that they can't stop students from doing work but did not want it to appear that ASMSU was giving sanction to the "Right to Work" referendum.

Student Art Show Has Two-Thirds Objects Exhibited

The success of last week's student art show was evidenced by purchase of more than two-thirds of the objects on exhibit, according to Fred Wollschlaeger, president of the Art Club.

Wollschlaeger said the exhibit was seen by a great number of students, faculty members and people. He said the members of the Art Club were extremely pleased at the satisfactory reception given the show, and the exhibit was strong engagement to the art students. Most of the price of the sale, the students contributed ten per cent of the club.

The art students are now planning a pre-Christmas sale. Wollschlaeger said it is hoped that for show a larger number and variety of objects will be placed on exhibit and sale.

Forester's Code Highly Effective

At a recent meeting of the Forestry Honor Council, class representatives discussed the progress of the Forestry School Honor System. According to chairman Craig, the honor system has proven to be highly effective in curbing "sloppiness" with only minor infractions occurring within the past years.

He said the chief problem was to make the underclassmen aware of the significance of the honor system and that it is binding on all members in all classes. The Forestry School honor system is accorded by faculty and students as an integral part of a forester's professional training.

Sigmund Freud Is Subject of Schuster Talk Tonight

Sigmund Freud will be the subject of a lecture by Dr. Cynthia Schuster tonight at 7:00 p.m. in the auditorium.

Freud's theory is based on the idea that a consideration of unconscious influences is necessary for understanding man and his behavior. His influence began about 1880.

The lecture is one of a series of "Great Philosophers" and is open to the public.

COM TO HEAR TAYLOR

The featured speaker at the Social Science Forum will be Dr. Dee Taylor, assistant professor of Sociology, anthropology and social work. The forum is open to all students, tonight at 7:00 p.m. in LA 306.

M-Club Needs Eight Fighters

At least eight more fighters are needed to complete the card for the annual M-Club fights to be held Friday, May 23 in the MSU Fieldhouse, Charlie Moore, president of the sponsoring lettermen's club, declared yesterday.

Moore said that the M-Club would like to card eight bouts and said that unless the fraternities stepped forward to fill the gaps, the club would be forced to seek fighters elsewhere.

Besides the annual Billy Merritt Memorial award for the outstanding fighter, trophies will be awarded to the fraternity or living group that furnishes the most fighters and another for the most winners.

Top fight on the card, Moore said, would be a bout between Norman Ygnatowicz, Butte, one of the state's top amateur battlers, and Gus Pastos, University student, who has held the Chicago Police Athletic League middleweight championship.

Moore said that proceeds from the matches will be used to purchase additional training equipment. The M-Club, through its annual fights, already has purchased a whirlpool bath and diathermy machine.

Ygnatowicz will be fighting at 150 pounds, Moore said. He added that Pastos would come in at a slight weight advantage, but that this was agreeable to the Butte fighter. Ygnatowicz won the Midland Empire Golden Gloves title three times—twice as a flyweight and once as a lightweight—and the Inland Empire Golden Gloves title twice—once as a flyweight and once as a lightweight. He has held the state title in '55, '56 and '57.

Moore said he was looking for an opponent for Montana Bockman, Grizzly grizzer and outstanding heavyweight.

The M-Club president said that anyone interested in fighting should contact him, or any M-Club member, as soon as possible.

WUS Drive Starts Tonight With Auction, Walk-a-thon

By VERA SWANSON

A pizza party, surprise party, breakfast dance and a house-cleaning job are only a few of the "service projects" which have been donated for tonight's Chinese Auction. The auction is part of the drive for World University Service, an international, non-profit, non-political organization, which aids needy universities abroad. It will begin at 8 p.m. in the Grill. All students and representatives for each living group are to be present to bid.

Novel Contributions

Last year's auction brought $700 toward the total $1258 raised in the drive. Peggy Marlow, co-chairman of this year's auction, expects some novel contributions comparable to past donations the Theta house and the Sigma Nu dog, Leo.

Synadelphic and Sigma Nu's candidates are leading the "Ugly Pair" contest. Bobbie Johnson of Corbin Hall and Warren Drew, Sigma Nu, were the winning couple of last year's contest which netted $185.

Walk-a-thon

Friday morning Jan Tustison and Jerry Beller will begin the trek back to campus for the WUS Walk-a-thon. They will start two miles from campus and will be able to take a step only when someone contributes a nickel to the WUS fund at the Lodge.

The positions will be broadcast by a walky-talky system at the Lodge, which will also relay the number of steps they may take. The length of the steps is standard and will be measured. It is hoped that the students will be back on campus by the time the Lodge dance ends.

Health Service Reports Increase in Measles Cases

Students with German measles have reported to the infirmary at the rate of from one to four per day the last two weeks, according to Dr. Robert Hansen of the Health Service.

Hansen said that the measles last two or three days and the patients are not very sick. He said most people are immune to German measles so there was no chance of an epidemic.

He said that it was best, however, for the cases to be isolated in the infirmary for a couple of days.

Vice President Ends 'Good-Will' Tour, Flies Home

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon yesterday abruptly ended a South American "good will" tour marred by violent attacks and rumored threats of assassination and flew to Puerto Rico en route to a hero's welcome in Washington.

Nixon and his wife, Pat, who were spat upon and stoned by Communist-inspired rioters in Caracas, Venezuela, Tuesday, arrived at San Juan's international airport at 7:50 p.m. EDT last night aboard a special U. S. Air Force plane. The Nixons will fly on to Washington today, arriving at noon, EST.

In Washington, President Eisenhower announced he would greet Nixon at the airport personally tomorrow and escort him back to the White House. The President also ordered all government departments to give their employees time off to line the streets of Washington in a rousing hero's welcome.

Soviets Fire New Satellite into Orbit

UP Wire

Russia fired its third Sputnik into orbit this morning. Official Soviet news agency Tass says this new Sputnik weighs 1½ tons. This is one hundred times heavier than the largest American satellite.

Sputnik III is reported to be circling the earth every 106 minutes.

Signals from the satellite were picked up "loud and clear" at the United Press monitoring station in Bickley, England today. Bickley is just outside London.

Symphonic Band Elects Officers For 1958 Term

Don Lawrence, Missoula, has been elected president of the Symphonic Band for the 1958-1959 term. Other officers are Jerry Domre, also of Missoula, vice president; Mary Ann Mertz, Anaconda, secretary-treasurer; and Donna Arnst, Fort Benton, publicity manager.

Lanny Kenny is retiring president. Jeanne Nitz and Marie Vance are outgoing vice president and secretary-treasurer respectively.

MSU CORPS DE BALLET will play the part of a band of gypsies in "Carmen," the 1958 All-School Show to be presented tomorrow night through Sunday. Choreography and direction of the troupe's dance sequences are by Marnie Cooper, head of the MSU Ballet Theater. Dancers pictured are (not in

Ostrom Disagrees With Guest Editorial

To the Kaimin:

First of all, I should like to endorse the sentiments expressed by Professor Hammen in Tuesday's Kaimin.

Secondly, I want to express my disagreement with some of the things in the editorial quoted from the Lewistown Daily News. While I do not think that President McFarland's resignation should have been accepted, neither do I think that MSU is a tree about to be consumed by termites and inner rot. No more do I believe that the board is about to swing the meat axe on MSU teachers.

Instead of dwelling on the mistakes of the past (all made by other people, of course) let us unite behind President Castle in support of the principles which many of us felt were represented by President McFarland. I believe that Dr. Castle is as much in favor of "quality education" as any one of us. If we can get together, there is reason to believe that MSU will continue to be a school of which we can be proud—and that President McFarland's accomplishments will not have been completely destroyed.

If this last seems to be too optimistic, let me say that the surest way to make these dire predictions come true is for us to continue bickering and to insist that the University is ruined beyond all hope.

Letter Exchange Between Kaimin, Board

May 9, 1958

Silent Members of the State Board of Education
Harriet Miller, Secretary
Capitol Building
Helena, Montana
Ladies and Gentlemen:

Since you have remained silent—both by conducting your business in Star Chamber sessions and by refusing comment to members of the press and private individuals—I respectfully ask for documented proof of any errors in the items I am enclosing with this letter.

If such proof is not offered, then I will understand that you accept the accuracy of the enclosed items, and will so inform our readers.

I also respectfully ask for any comment you may wish to make concerning rumored relationships of the decision you reached in the Star Chamber meetings May 5 and 6 with the following:

The Montana Power Company
Montana State College and Eastern Montana College of Education
The American Legion

Hopes by individual board members concerning the coming election

Copies of this letter are being released to other members of the press for whatever use they may choose to make of it.

If you choose to make no comment whatever during your meeting next week, I will understand that this means you plan to make no other comment at a later date.

Respectfully,
Ted Hulbert
Editor,

Rod Fisher:

Radio Tomfoolery And Other Stuff

●● A trio of practical jokers in Dr. Jorgensen's radio production class went to no end of time and trouble last week to produce a phony version of the weekly "Campus News." Their doctored tape, supposedly recorded off the air, was subtly contrived to contain just enough mistakes to seem convincingly bad. "Jorgy" fell for it as planned, and delivered quite a tirade on bad production techniques before the straight-faced pranksters took him off the hook.

Happy ending: the real show was the best to date.

●● This weekend students will have a chance to attend MSU's foremost cultural event of the year. If you are among those people who dutifully pay lip service to the finer things in life, perhaps its time you tried a sample. I refer of course to "Carmen," a very popular opera in this country and one that should be familiar to anyone with a college degree.

●● As a spectator sport, frog jumping will never replace Indian wrestling. I observed Sunday that frogs have little or no showmanship, and seem unable to comprehend the simplest set of rules. The anthropology department's highly touted entry was unmoved by the bravado of his feathered and painted escort. Frogs, apparently, are not impressed by Indian get-ups. I was.

Students Working On Carmen—Feig

To the Kaimin:

One of the recent Kaimin editorials, written by an obviously misinformed person, was in essence a patriotic appeal to the students to work on Carmen because, in this person's opinion, there were only two or three students helping.

May I correct this and give credit where due . . .

I would say that on my committees alone, 200 students have given their aid at some time. This figure differs a great deal from the one quoted in the Kaimin. The students should be commended on their active participation and fine support given the All School Show.

Two Viewpoints on 'Right to Work' Iss

To the Kaimin:

Regarding Professor Browman's letter of May 14 deploring student circulation of "Right to Work" petitions, I cannot agree that any citizen of a democracy, least of all its scholars, should be deterred from political action for fear of economic revenge. Nor is the "official policy" as set forth in existing laws sacrosanct against changes enacted by democratic means.

However, my chief dissent from Professor Browman is a matter of economic analysis. It is probably the most pervasive fallacy in American life that labor unions are primarily responsible for the improvement in the standard of living of our people, and that the general level of wages would fall and depression ensue if unions were weakened or abolished. The truth is that wages are sustained and are increased as the productivity of labor rises, by the competition of employers for the services of workers; and that the American standard of living would have risen as much, if not more, had nobody even thought of a labor union!

The actual effect of labor unions is, instead, to lower the standard of living of the working class. A labor union is a kind of monopoly which aims, by threat or actuality of striking, to raise the wages of its members above the level that would prevail in a competitive labor market. The effect is to make the price of products produced in the unionized industries (e.g. housing, steel, autos) more costly than they would otherwise be, and hence to cause less of these products to be sold, and fewer jobs to be offered in the unionized industries. A larger share of the labor force is thus left to compete for jobs in the non-unionized sectors of the economy (e.g. farmhands, maids, filling stations), and as a result of that greater competition the wages of nonunion workers are lower than they would otherwise have been. The net effect is therefore to improve the wages of an aristocracy of labor at the expense of raising prices and lowering wages for the majority of workers!

Remember that only a third of American workers are in unions, and if the other two-thirds were to join them the situation would be even worse, for then the workers displaced by union wage-raising would just remain unemployed.

Conclusion: What is bad for unions is good for labor, and makes us freer men at that. So circulate any petition you believe in, and bring one over for me to sign.

Raymond H. McEvoy
Associate Professor of Economics

To the Kaimin:

In the light of all the explosion of the past few weeks a violent animal has crept in and around in the shadows. As student Montana and future member her society it is time we all w up to what is happening.

Over the past several months there has been a concerted effort to place on the November ballot an initiative which is circulating under the heading of "Right to Work" a misnomer. At first glance the initiative sounds logical and is only correct but actually it is socially and economically unsound. To work petitioners are attempting to destroy the collective bargaining power of labor unions by making the union contract and union shop unlawful.

Though this does not greatly concern the University, the manner in which "Equal Opportunity League" leaders, another misnomer, are collecting signatures in Missoula does. The integrity of MSU student is being insulted and degraded by fellow members of student body who are selling services to these people at a price of 50 cents a signature.

Wake up, fellow students, look around! There are people you associate with who are actually knowing or caring they are doing, are circulating petition for that price. If you believe they are right, that is their thing; but some are doing this for the money involved. Is a sample of the highly intelligent honorable student who contribute so much to high standards?

In Conference Track Meet

Montana took a 72-59 victory over the University of Utah yesterday at Dornblaser Field in a track meet that was held up an hour and a half by mechanical trouble in the Utah bus.

One dual meet record was broken and two others were tied. Gary Eyre of Utah ran the 880 yard run in 1:56.6 to break the record of 1:57.2 set by Mike Fleming of MSU in the 1952 Montana-Utah dual track meet at Missoula.

Mike Granbois ran the 440 yard run in :49.4, tying the record held by Oscar Jackson of Utah and Jerry Lanz of Montana. Marlin Johnson pole vaulted 12 feet and 6 inches to tie the pole vault record.

Montana took first place in nine events to Utah's six. Ken Christensen of Utah was high man with 10 points on two first places, in the high jump and the 100-yard-dash. He pulled a groin muscle while running the 100. This injury was the turning point of the meet.

But if you want to enjoy smoking as never before, switch to Camels. Nothing else tastes so rich, smokes so mild. Today more people smoke Camels than any other cigarette. The best tobacco gives you the best smoke. Try Camels and you'll agree!

Cast of 60 to Open Bizet's 'Carmen' Tomorrow

Bizet's "Carmen" will open its three-day run in the University Theater tomorrow night at 8:15 with a cast of over 60 including the principal's chorus, dancers and children's chorus.

The story of the opera begins when Micaela comes to a square in Seville seeking her fiance Don Jose, a corporal in the dragoons. Not finding him, she leaves and the relief guard marches in, among them Don Jose. The cigarette girls saunter out of their factory with Carmen appearing last. She sings of the fickleness of love, and piqued by Jose's indifference, throws a flower in his face.

Cigarette Factory

Micaela returns with a note of affection to Jose from his mother and withdraws. Jose vows to marry her as his mother has wished, but a commotion in the cigarette factory commands his attention and he finds it necessary to arrest Carmen, who has stabbed another girl. He soon falls in love with her and allows her to escape.

In Lillas Pastia's tavern near the walls of Seville, the escaped Carmen and her gypsy friends describe the joys of gypsy life. The toreador Escamillo arrives and soon becomes enamoured of Carmen.

The smugglers and gypsies are next seen in a mountain pass. Jose is still in love with Carmen, but she is tiring of him and intends to replace him with Escamillo.

Bull Fight

Carmen returns to Seville to attend Escamillo's bull fight. Jose finds her outside the arena and pleads with her to return to him. In her climactic refusal to do so, she tells him her heart is elsewhere. When Escamillo's triumphal march from the arena, Carmen rushes toward the entrance with a cry of delight. Maddened, Jose plunges his knife into her breast.

Pat Shaffer is cast in the role of Carmen, Larry Nitz is Don Jose, Edward Focher is Escamillo and Ursula Davis is Micaela. Bob Colness plays the part of Zuniga, the dragoon captain.

The four smugglers, Frasquita, Mercedes, El Dancairo and El Remendado are played by Delores Pauling, Myrna Jo Gatzka, Byron Christian and Keith Lokensgard.

Mixed Chorus

The principals are supported by a mixed chorus and by the MSU Corps de Ballet. Instrumental music will be by the MSU Symphonette, a 30-piece orchestra of select students and members of the music faculty.

A squad of urchins is represented by a children's chorus. They were selected and trained by James Cole of the public school system.

MCHS Artists Win Five of Sixteen Superior Awards

Seven Montana high schools submitted sixteen winning art objects in the high school art competition held last week in the University Gallery, according to Rudy Turk of the art department. Rating certificates of "superior" were given for the sixteen art objects.

Five of the superior awards were given to Missoula County High School; others went to Wolf Point High School, Custer County High School, Billings Senior High School, Anaconda Central and Bozeman Senior High School. These schools will receive watercolors, engravings or pottery donated by the art department staff.

Turk said that 18 high schools were represented with 91 objects displayed including watercolor, oil, drawing, commercial design, sculpture, jewelry and textile design.

House Okays Aid For Latin America

WASHINGTON, (U)—The House yesterday passed a $4,603,000,000 foreign aid bill that would authorize 100 million dollars for Latin America despite attacks on Vice President Richard M. Nixon by "rude brats" and "political juvenile delinquents."

Rep. Donald L. Jackson (D-Calif.) urged the House not to slash aid for South American countries despite the "unconscionable attacks" on Nixon. He declared that the vast majority of South Americans were well behaved.

"A few rude brats who should be spanked are completely and totally unimportant in the assessment of our overall future relations with our neighbors to the south," Jackson said.

Creative Writers To Attend Meeting

MSU will send five representatives to a conference of creative writing directors and students May 22 and 23 at the University of Oregon in Eugene.

Each of the students attending is required to bring a story to the conference. These stories will be published in an anthology.

Those planning to attend are Mary Jaspersen, Milford Sherman, Jerry Cooper, Dick Brooking, and Prof. Robert Bowen, who will be in charge of the Montana group.
